This Week
"When a Man Loves"

Old-Timer Passes In Mrs. Linton

The death occurred on Thursday morning of Mrs. Agnes Lake Linton, after an illness lasting for some months, from heart failure. While her condition had been serious at times during the past week it was considered she was improving and hopes were entertained of prolonging her life indefinitely, but the grim reaper triumphed, the end coming very suddenly.

Mrs. Linton was born six miles south of Galt, Ont., where her girlhood was spent and she married Mr. Linton, later moving to Parkland, Alta., to homestead, where her husband pre-deceased her in 1897. During her long residence in the Parkland district she was always an active church worker having held office as president of the Ladies' Aid at Stevely and Parkland. Later she was instrumental in establishing a hospital at Francois Lake, B.C., and she held the position of Hon. President of the hospital. About two years ago Mrs. Linton moved to Champion, where she purchased a residence, in order to be near her daughter, Mrs. P. M. Patterson. Recently failing health induced her to move to Mr. Patterson's home where she passed away in her 79th year.

Two of Mrs. Linton's sons enlisted in the overseas forces during the war, Douglas, the youngest son being killed in action in 1918. Warwick returned home but died as the result of war injuries in 1924.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. P. M. Patterson of Champion; one son, Hume, of Francois Lake, B. C., and two brothers, Archie Lake of Francois Lake, B.C. and James of Bellingham, Wash.

During her brief residence in Champion Mrs. Linton made hosts of friends who will mourn her departure, although the feeling will prevail that she has gone to the reward which follows a life spent in genuine service for others.

Crops Making Splendid Progress

The exceptionally warm weather experienced for the past few days, with more or less wind, has revived the idea that rain is about the most desirable thing that could occur. The crops are growing as well as they possibly could, any lack of moisture not affecting the wheat fields. Work on summerfallow is proceeding satisfactorily and the plowing is still extra good, as the surface dryness has not yet reached to a depth to interfere with plowing. Early sown gardens are making good progress, but small seeds sown later are not coming up. While we can go a long time yet without suffering to any extent rain may be said to be highly desirable.

Golf Course Now in Shape

The golf course is rapidly being put into a shape that is decidedly a credit to the local club. Last year, owing to the tremendous growth of grass and the presence of clouds of mosquitoes, was not very favorable to the extension of the membership of the club, but this year conditions promise to be reversed and with the vastly improved course available there should be substantial progress made.

Siler's Stunts Puzzle Nanton

"Old Man" Siler was the hero of the Champion-Nanton game on Sunday, pitching the locals to a 5-3 victory, the game never being in danger. In baseball phraseology Si was "going good," a condition which for years has spelled misfortune to his opponents. Leon Walker, an old-time Champion player who has returned here this year, did the receiving very satisfactorily and the team at large showed a wonderful improvement over their first appearance against Vulcan a week previously. There was a splendid crowd in attendance and the fans were perfectly satisfied with the situation at large, the enthusiasm running over in the fourth innings when with the bases full "Si" struck out three batters in succession. Jimmie Walker made a sensational throw from deep centre outfield to the home plate to cut off a runner. McIntyre hit and fielded in his old-time style.

Champion baseball team celebrated the first Wednesday half-holiday by making a trip to Nobleford where they administered a decisive defeat to the local team. Welsh, in the box for Champion, allowed only four hits, while the Nobleford pitcher, Frederic, was hit freely. A return game will be played in Champion in the near future.

The Champion team played a return match with Nanton on Monday. Both teams were taking a holiday, or saving their best efforts for future games as the score was a tie at a rather large figure, a complete reversal of form display on Sunday. Welsh in the box for Champion was stingy with hits, but rugged support was responsible for many runs.

W.I. Bake Sale Big Success

The ice cream and cake social and bake sale under the auspices of the Women's Institute on Saturday evening was a genuine success, the ladies being kept busy until everything was disposed of. The proceeds totalled some $40, which after all expenses were paid left a very satisfactory balance to the credit of the Institute.

New School Soon Under Way

Plans and specifications for the new school building will be completed shortly and building operations will begin as shortly after the acceptance of these as possible. The site will be to the east of the present school buildings. When this building, which is being erected at a cost of $25,000, is completed, Champion will have school accommodation equal to if not better than any town or village in Southern Alberta.

Municipal Roadwork Making Progress

Work on road improvements is in progress throughout the Municipal District of Harmony. The wet fall and spring has impressed everyone with the necessity of being prepared for a recurrence of such conditions. There will be a particularly heavy expenditure in the division in which Champion is situated, as the most essential roads are naturally those nearest the market. The presence of an unusually large number of trucks is also adding to the urge for good roads.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

With this issue The Chronicle begins its tenth year of publication. Looking forward nine years seems an almost limitless time, but looking back, however, one wonders how quickly time can fly. While the nine years have provided much experience in hard times, the later years have seen a steady improvement in conditions in this district and at the present time the outlook is extremely favorable in every way. In thinking of the past, there have been so many generous with their support during the past years, many of which were discouraging in their leanings, we could not fail to express the hope that the future hold prosperity for all concerned. The limited extent of the newspaper field available here has prevented the expansion of the plant and business of The Chronicle to the extent the publisher would have wished but very substantial progress has been made nevertheless. Present limitations are that more rapid editions will be possible in the future.

The Elks are still wrestling with the problem of raising the last few thousand dollars needed for the erection of a community hall. If there was ever an occasion when the public should come voluntarily to the assistance of the canvassers that condition exists with regard to the hall proposition. It is so generally recognized that better accommodation in this respect is absolutely essential and the project is so far advanced that to stand from under at the present time and let the effort fail means that we will never have a public hall here. Those who have come generously to the support of the present project could scarcely fail to resent its failure to indifference of individuals who may later be supporting another scheme. This is the real opportunity to achieve a creditable hall, and if the movement is stalled by those who should support it, it will be very hard to revive under any conditions. Every citizen of the community should help in this project to a reasonable extent and a really general movement would make the necessary individual investment very low.

Work is being started during the present week on the completion of the road between Edmonton and Jasper. It is announced by Hon. O. L. McPherson, Minister of Public Works. A crew has commenced work on the section between Obed and Bliss, and it has been found necessary to follow the old railway grade for only about a mile. With the connection thus afforded with Jasper Park, a possible motor road right through from Edmonton will be provided. While it is not planned to do any travelling on this road this summer, under satisfactory weather conditions it should be in good shape for motor traffic.

Two crews are also at work on the Peace River Highway between Lesser Slave Lake and High Prairie and work will commence shortly on the link between Smith and the eastern end of the lake. Some clearing and entirely new construction will be necessary on this section, connecting at Enlila with the Grouard and High Prairie road. Conditions are reported to be considerably better along the route than during last season, and it is expected that good progress will be made with the completion of the highway.

Over ten thousand chicks have been distributed during the past spring from the Provincial Government Poultry Plant at Oliver. Officials in charge of the plant report that the demand has been greatly in excess of the supply and that many applicants have been referred to other breeders and hatcheries for their requirements. The breeds represented in the shipments include White Leghorns, Barred Rocks and White Wyandottes.

Over three thousand chicks are being reared on the farm this spring, and in view of their increasing economic importance, a beginning is being made this year with turkeys.

Leon Walker's hitting has been quite a feature of recent ball games.

Mrs. Lee Groves left this week for Michigan, where she will make an extended visit.

All tins and pans from the bake sale are at P. T. Stephenson's store, where owners may get them.

Vulcan was the centre of attraction on May 24th. Among the items on the program was a baseball game, Champion vs. Vulcan.

E. Siler made a Babe Ruth hit in the game with Nanton on Monday of which he is inordinately proud. The ball left the vicinity of the ball game entirely.

On Saturday, May 20th, the junior girls' basketball team will play Vulcan in the school grounds. The game will commence at 3 o'clock. Turn out and root for your own team.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. W. C. Hoskins on Thursday, May 31st.

Four new locomotives, the purchase of which was authorized by the Alberta Government some time ago, have been received from the Canadian locomotive works at Kingston. These have now been placed in regular freight service on the government-owned lines in the northern part of the province.

A. E. Ottewill who for the past several years has been head of the department of extension, University of Alberta, has been appointed registrar of the University, succeeding the late C. E. Race. Mr. Ottewill's place as director of extension work will be taken by E. A. Corbett who has been connected for some time with the work of this branch.

An increase of 154 exchange stations and 93 rural stations, or a total of 247 new stations in operation during the month of April, 1928 is reported by the provincial department of telephones. A new office was opened on April 16 at Nestow and construction is proceeding on new exchange buildings at Lloydminster, High River, Blairmore and South Calgary. Line extensions are being undertaken to Willingdon, Two Aills, Kaleland, Derwent and Beauvalon, the new towns on the C.P.R. Outknife-Whitford branch. Collections for the month of April show a gain of $17,000 over those of the corresponding month in 1927.

World's Grain Congress

Will Mark Fiftieth Anniversary Of Coming of the Railway and Birth Of Prairie Agriculture

The first world's grain congress scheduled for Regina, in 1932, will mark the 50th anniversary of the arrival of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the birth of prairie agriculture, outside of a comparatively small earlier settlement in Manitoba. In earlier days, preliminary to the summoning of the congress, Hon. W. R. Mather, Federal Minister of Agriculture, announced: "The proposal to hold a world's grain congress in Canada has been quietly discussed and canvassed by a few enthusiasts in the west for the past two or three years. In the meantime, the pronounced success of the world's poultry congress has stimulated and crystallized the proposed world's congress into possibility and reality."

NEW STRENGTH FOR ALL WEAK GIRLS

Comes From the Rich, Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There must be no glaucosity in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls and children. If your daughter is languid, has no energy, is nervous, has a short breath after slight exertion, is always out of breath, is a victim of the heart, a poor appetite, a tendency to faint, she has anaemia. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the blood tonic, is the only medicine that leaves her daughter healthy for the rest of her life. When the blood is strong, the body is strong. The Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle out-door exercise, will give her the strength and energy that comes from a full use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is the only medicine that stimulates the nerves and brings a glow of health to pale cheeks. Mrs. Robert Jackson, R.R. 9, Portland, Ore., writes: "My daughter, who was very nervous, and going to school seemed to me, for her, often she would have to stay at home for a day at a time. She would have a very high fever, and the doctor's treatment did not help her. I tried a number of remedies, but with no good results. One day she came to me and said she had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did so. It was not very long after she began taking the pills that I could see a change for the better. She kept on taking the pills, and her nervousness and through them grew into a strong, healthy girl. She is now a student at the University of Oregon, and has been needed at any time, it has been Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The pills are sold by all medicine stores, and will be sent by mail on receipt of a box by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wireless Saved the Situation

A very embarrassing situation was averted in Egypt, greeted King Amrullah and his queen with a ceremony upon their arrival from Bombay, thanks to wireless.

A frantic message picked up by the P. and O. liner Rajputana, from an Egyptian operator, bemoaning the fact that Egypt was not acquainted with the Afghan national salute. The purser had it wireless to Port Said, where it was deciphered—note the royal pair were welcomed with a perfect rendition of their anthem.

Wheat from Fort Vermilion, 250 miles north of Peace River, weighed 64 pounds to the bush and graded No. 2 without damage. British-American Friendship

Chas. M. Schwab Says the British Are the Most Sincere People In the World

In an appeal to abolish the "hands across the sea" sentiment between Great Britain and the United States, Charles M. Schwab said at an English-speaking union luncheon that the two nations are knit together not only sentimentally but actually, and that a large factor in this union is the steel industries of the two countries. He said that Great Britain was the mother of the steel industry, but that the great British processes, implanted in the Bessemer process, were developed in America.

"I consider the British the spiritiest, most sincere people in the world," Mr. Schwab said. "Nobody knows what they have suffered from the great war, and what they are now doing to get back on their feet. I am proud of my British friendship, and have received more honor from Great Britain than from my own country. I am not disturbed by the hostility of the flamboyant Americans who falsely represent America abroad, and I am not disturbed by the newspapers because I know that the relations between us are not affected by such things."

First Thing Man Exploited

In 1300 B.C. Egyptians Had Laws Governing Bees

The bee was probably the first creature whose labors were exploited by man in large numbers. Most bees are found in waste-paper baskets, and in some hotels there are people who spend most of their workdays going through waste-paper quantities of papers and cast-off articles placed in waste-paper baskets by guests. Many thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, valuable papers and such things as theatre tickets, railroad and steamship tickets and pieces of wearing apparel are discovered every month. One of the most expensive anesthetics in the world, owned by a guest who was at a pond, was picked up in waste-paper rubbish less than a month ago. Recently, too, there were two $100 bills found in the trash that was sent down from a guest room.

Preserves Water Supply

Forests are nature's preservers of water supply. The forest floor, being porous, retains the maximum amount of rainfall. This physical condition combined with the mechanical obstructions of tree roots, retards the rate at which water runs off, keeps it released gradually and the equilibrium of stream flow is preserved.

Preparing For Trial Fights

Luxurious British Airship Built For London-New York Traffic

From New York to London in 45 hours, and with all the comforts of the most luxurious ocean liners! This may sound like a dream of Jules Verne but it will be accomplished this year by the R-100, a British airship, built under direction of Commander C. Dennis Burney, R.N.

The Huron ship, of 5,000,000 cubic feet displacement, has progressed so far that it is expected to be ready for trial flights in July.

American capital has become interested in the R-100 and a Detroit group has taken an option on a substantial interest in the Burney Company with a view of establishing a fleet of six 9,000,000 cubic feet airships built on the Burney design and for use in London-New York traffic.

Head of these ships will be built in the United States and half in England with the operating company owned jointly by British and American capital.

The R-100 will carry 100 passengers and ten tons of express freight. It will be able to make the eastward passage in four and a half days from London to New York via the Azores in 60 hours. The southern route on the westward passage is contemplated as well.

If plans for the trans-Atlantic airship company materialize, the R-100 will be the first of an experimental fleet followed by the larger dirigibles with capacities for 140 passengers and 20 tons of freight.

The R-100 has been furnished, the materos are completed and rugs have already been laid in the dining salon.

Most Unusual Job

Going Through Hotel Waste Paper Baskets To Retrieve Lost Articles

Waste-paper baskets sifting is not an unusual job, but one that is highly important in large hotels. Most baskets are found in waste-paper baskets, and in some hotels there are people who spend most of their workdays going through waste-paper quantities of papers and cast-off articles placed in waste-paper baskets by guests. Many thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, valuable papers and such things as theatre tickets, railroad and steamship tickets and pieces of wearing apparel are discovered every month. One of the most expensive anesthetics in the world, owned by a guest who was at a pond, was picked up in waste-paper rubbish less than a month ago. Recently, too, there were two $100 bills found in the trash that was sent down from a guest room.

This delivery is made through 12,440 post offices, and over 200,000 rural mail boxes attending an area of nearly 3,700,000 square miles.

OGDEN'S CUT PLUG Soothing— yet a man's smoke COOL AND FRAGRANT

Save the Valuable "POKER HANDS"

PAINTED FIRES

BY NELLIE L. MCCLUNG

COPYRIGHT, CANADA, 1925

Then he exalted war and military life. It developed the best in a man, and at this the Major beat his breast, directing his audience to that storehouse of accumulated virtues. Then he appealed to the young men to "get into the game." He painted the story of a man, the freedom of it. The army was the place where a man was a man. The nation's hero was the warrior—mollycoddlers have no place in the world, especially with women. There was truth in the old song yet:

"If a lad a lass would marry—

He must learn a gun to carry."

Then in a lighter vein the gallant Major hinted at the charms of the French girls and how they attracted the Canadians. His manner indicated that but for the presence of the ladies he could tell more.

While he was speaking, Pte. Crowe's hands were never still, nor did his lips cease from trembling.

The Major then called for recruits.

Major was a prince of story-tellers. "Say, boys, did you hear this one? One of the boys who had been on leave—

"Hours of laughter followed, then more beer. "Too much hard liquor is bad," laughed the Major, "but too much beer is just right. No danger of being pinched for being today—we have both the proprietor and the policeman. Now, listen to this. There was a French girl—"

At one o'clock the party broke up. The Major had secured its names. He decided the next morning to let Private Crowe go back to the City. The kid was all right, but he lacked "pep." This was a job for a real man, and after all, the best little recruiter apart from himself, if it ever could be considered from himself, was the amber-colored bottle. It gave just the proper warmth and glow.

Jack made his journey around by Edmonton to Eagle Lake, arriving there on the first day of February. There had been no reply to his wire. He stepped off the train with a strangely beating heart. Helmi would be there, surely, but the platform was almost bare. Not a person whom he knew did he see as he hurried across the street and over to his own house.

The door was not locked, and he went in. A strange scene met his eyes—dirty dishes on the table, the remains of a slovenly meal; ashes from cigars on the plates; the bed showing that it had been slept in; the coffee pot was on the stove. The floor had been tramped by muddy feet and spat upon by tobacco chewers, and a forgotten pipe was on the window-sill. The air was heavy with tobacco smoke and the stale fumes of beer.

Jack's heart was heavy with apprehension. He went up to the loft by the ladder on the wall. The bed there had been used too, and a man's coat was thrown across it. There it was—the house he had built—defiled, defiled. What did it mean? He would know that it meant, he would go back to the boarding-house.

Mrs. McLean, a few minutes later, related the interview to her friend Mrs. Turner. "He bawled in at me," she said, "just when I was putting the potatoes on to boil. 'Where's Helmi?' he said, almost shouted at me without even looking at me the time. How could I tell him where Helmi was? 'She's not here,' I said, 'and I don't know where she is.' 'Where did she go?' he said. 'To Edmonton,' I said.

"Why did he go?" he stormed. "Where did she know I was coming back?" "Where did she know she was going?" I asked him. "He never mentioned it to me as you know," I said.

"Laud! I couldn't tell him why she went. I never was one that could talk about these things. I don't know where any of my people could. The Weekes were funny that way.

"Where's him he said at last, staring at me as if he didn't see me. 'Sint had an accident in the mine, and went out the last train.' Well, look here, Mrs. McLean, you can't be sure of it in my house," he says, "can you tell me that?"

"I knew very well a party of him and Helmi went right down from town out there shootin'—drunk as fools, too—I wouldn't let them go. 'I certainly have no knowledge of it,' I said. 'You can't go on in your house since you've said,' I said, very stiff, Mrs. McLean always said there was no one could be stiffer than I could when I wanted to be. 'Do you know of anyone having stayed there?' he said. 'Yes,' I said, 'the crazy Pte. Crowe, from England. Crowe was there for a week, about six weeks ago.'"

"Lord, I thought he was going to strike me—but none of the Weekes was ever cowards, so I just glared back at him stiff as pork. I could give him eye for eye, let me tell you. He went out at that and over the office. I think maybe he expected a letter from Helmi, but if she's written to him it's more than she's done for any of us. Give over a month and not a word from her. And I was good to that girl, though I ain't the one to tell what I've done for anyone. Now, if Jack Doran had come in a better ship he might have heard more from me. I'm funny that way, anyone can lead me, but strong horses can't drive me."

Jack Doran went to the postoffice. His voice sounded queer to him, and his tongue felt like a piece of rope. "Are there any letters for me, Mr. Armstrong?" he asked, hoping his voice was not beating like his heart.

"Two have just come for Mrs. Doran," said the postmaster, handing them to him. "Glad to see you've come to us again. Jack People come and go at Eagle Mines—come and go—it makes it hard for a postmaster."

Jack went back to his own house—he must get under cover—the eyes of the people he met hurt him—they bored into him, twisting, turning, screwing, gouging, red-hot and sharp as ice. He must get somewhere where he could shut the door.

Experience of more than thirty years proves that aluminum is the only completely satisfactory material in which to pack tea. Red Rose tea is put up only in aluminum, and a "money-back" guarantee goes with every package.

In his own house, Jack sat with the letters in his hand. Helmi had come, she had not waited. He was a month late, but Helmi should have waited. Where had she gone?

The letters might tell him—it would be better to know. He opened the first one and found it contained a Government cheque for fifteen dollars payable to Helmi Doran, and it said it was on account of Pte. Arthur Warner.

Jack stood at it without understanding. The other letter was from Montreal. "Dear Helmi," it said, "I have made over my separation allowance to you, and I hope you will accept it from me. You are the only person in human who has any claim on me. I have paid every other person in Canada for everything they have done for me. You, dear Helmi, I can never pay in money, for you gave me the most precious thing a man can have who goes out as I am going, a memory of something tender and sweet. I have made my will, leaving everything I have to you. I will never forget your last words to me. No, I never spoke to you, but I will tell you. Will you write me, Helmi? Ever Yours, Arthur Warner."

"My complexion was completely ruined by pimples which varied in size from a pin's head to a pea, and, while others were just red and tender, they caused an itching, burning sensation, also disfigurement."

"After using courses of remedies for over two years, with but little result, I sent for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I was so pleased with the results that I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one cake of Cuticura Ointment, my complexion was completely healed." (Signed) W. H. Teeth and Health

Issued by The Canadian Dental Hygienists' Association By The Saskatchewan Dental Society

WHY "NEW TEETH FOR OLD?" Perhaps you were wondering why little money had to be done his "baby" teeth and have them replaced with new ones.

Why, you asked yourself, do they not remain permanent and develop in size during the growing years just as do the ears and eyes?

"Because they become decayed" you say, but not necessarily so since tooth decay is a disease and is therefore abnormal and preventable, and for that matter, when you lose a tooth through decay, at six and twenty, does a new tooth replace it?

But consider! You have seen a little sapling grow to be a big tree—"Large ones from little acorns grow"—but you have heard tell of a small pebble growing to become a large stone? Not likely so, and for obvious reasons, for, as you know, the tree is of organic matter, while the stone is of inorganic.

Now the tooth, being composed largely of inorganic matter, especially the outer enamel coat, which is almost wholly so, like the pebble, cannot of itself change in form, and so grow larger once it is fully developed.

Obviously too, a baby's little jaw has room for the larger teeth that he will wear when he is fully grown. So unlike the pebble that "from little ones to big ones grows," we have instead, "new teeth for old."

These baby teeth then serve temporarily for mastication until the maxillary or jaw bones are sufficiently developed to accommodate the larger permanent teeth of adult age.

They are another Nature's expedient, as it were, and a good expedient too, if given half a chance.

Little Helps For This Week

"Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of these least, ye did it not to me."—Matthew xxv, 45.

Living, thou dost not live. If men's spring run dry, What have they left thee with, freely give.

Dying, thou shalt not die. He premeditated even so.

To these lips repeat, Behold, the tears that soothed thy.

Have washed thy Master's feet. The Olden Testament House. The final test of religion at that last day is not righteousness, but love; not what I have done, not what I have said, but how I have discharged the common charities of life, what we have not done—by sins of omission—we are judged. It is the love of the neighbor, the love of Christ, the proof that we never knew Him, that for us He lived in vain. Henry Drummond.

No matter how deep-rooted the evil habit, it must yield to force of Man's Own Remedy if used as directed.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

CHEAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

Wash each stalk of asparagus carefully with a vegetable brush to remove all dirt. Then cut in small pieces (using all but the very tough parts). Cook, covered, until the asparagus is tender, in enough water to make a soup.

Add salt to taste just before the asparagus is done. Allow two cups cooked asparagus and cooking water to 2 cups medium cream sauce (2 cups milk, 4 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons butter). Season and serve hot.

Note: The less tender part may be cooked longer and put through a sieve. If desired, the tops may be used for salad.

FRUIT BLISS

2-3 cup sugar.

1-3 cup water.

4 tablespoons lemon juice.

100 cold paste.

3 cups fruit.

Boil sugar and water five minutes. Pour over egg yolks, cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice and red color, paste and fruit. Pour over fruit, using peaches, oranges, red cherries and strawberries cut in pieces. Serve very cold. Serves 8.

Enlisting Their Sympathy

Counsel for the victim of a motorist's error: "Gentlemen of the jury, the driver of the car states he was going only four miles an hour. Think of it! He thinks of the agency of my client, the victim, as the car drove over his body at four miles an hour!"

"I see you are getting all the girls of your hands."

"Yes, but the worst of it is I have to keep their husbands on their feet."

Salt Essential To Health

Is One Of The Four Prime Necessities

Of Life.

Salt is necessary to life and health. Deprived of salt, disease and ultimate death would follow. In certain parts of the world where salt is scarce, salt is used in lieu of cash in trade and barter. Salt ranks with water, bread, and sleep as one of the four prime necessities of life. A medical man states recently that the chronic ill-health of many people is due to their underconsumption of salt. They take too little in the condiment form, and even less in vegetables, such as cabbages, which contain valuable salts.

Look at your salt-cellar. Each white grain of glistening salt is a perfect crystal. In a tiny pinch there are thousands. They will pass in your body, and you will never know it. Salt, and bones—and do their health-keeping work.

Why

Firestone

Tires Give Most Miles Per Dollar

The greatest enemy to tire life is not the harsh grip of city streets or the rough roads, but heat, which is created inside the tire by internal friction. Heat not only weakens the fabric, but also softens the rubber, causing blowouts and tire failure.

The above illustration shows a single cord of Firestone tires, which are greatly magnified and cut away into lighter smaller cords composed of many little fibers.

By means of the exclusive Firestone Cord Duplex system, every fiber is insulated with rubber, which prevents internal heat and friction.

QUESTION~

"What is it that makes the difference between profit, and loss to the Dairyman?"

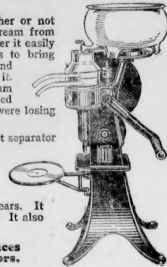

ANSWER~

"The Extra Cream that either Goes into the Cream can or into the skimmilk"

THERE is a question whether or not you are getting all the cream from your milk. You can answer it easily and without cost. Just ask us to bring out a new De Laval Separator and run your skim-milk through it. You may be surprised at the cream recovered. Hundreds have tried this plan and have found they were losing from $25 to $200 per year.

The new De Laval is the best separator ever made, since Dr. De Laval invented the first centrifugal separator 48 years ago. It has the wonderful "floating" bowl—the greatest separator improvement in 25 years. It is guaranteed to skim cleaner. It also runs easier and lasts longer.

Liberal trade allowances made on old separators.

Wyman Parker, living ten miles west of Carmungu was attacked by his hogs on Thursday and was considerably torn and injured. The prompt attendance of Dr. Freeze and the dressing of his injuries will probably be the cause of no permanent injury resulting.

There was a fair attendance at the P.T.A. meeting on Monday evening. Mrs. Pankhurst of Calgary, was the principal speaker and her address and the other items of the program were thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments were served during the evening.

There will be no grading done in the subdivision this year. The councilors looked the ground over very hastily, their conduct indicating that they were so far from home as to be homesick, and decided the sub would have to wait for their graded road. There is a mild prospect of a sidewalk running east and west along the street so that it will be possible for sub residents to visit one another when the weather is wet and the streets muddy.

WILLYS-KNIGHT
Sixes

Now! ANOTHER EXCLUSIVE FEATURE

The silent Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine plus a Belflex stiffened chassis now make a completely silent car.

From the first turn of its sleeve-valve engine, the most powerful, most highly efficient and quietest in operation of all cars of its type or class—the Willys-Knight Six is a mile a point still undetermined—gains in power, gains in efficiency, gains in smoothness and silence with every mile.

And now—Belflex Shackles—still another new and exclusive Willys-Knight feature—a tremendous engineering advance over the usual factory and motor metal shackles of other cars. Belflex guards against all chassis rattles and squeaks. It deadens road vibration, eliminates all need for shackle lubrication.

Belflex provides that the spring parts of the car are insulated from the unsprung parts with a non-rubbed-in fabric—shock absorbers—thereby affording permanent chassis silence and diminishing wear at every point of the car.

Examine the new "B" Willys-Knight Six or the Great Six, yourself. Willys-Knight Engineering Leadership was never more definitely emphasized than in the extraordinary beauty, luxury and performance ability of these fine cars.

Willys-Knight Great Six prices from $2375 to $3450. The new "B" Willys-Knight Six, companion car to the Willys-Knight Great Six, from $1500 to $2450. Prices f.o.b. factory. Taxes extra.
